Note: The map includes institutions with artistic degree programmes for instruments, voice, conducting, composition, church music and popular music. As a rule, they offer a bachelor's or master's degree, a diploma, or a performance degree. Training in pop, rock or jazz without these degrees, primarily offered at private institutes, appears in a separate map ('Educational facilities for pop, rock and jazz'). The map does not include choral and orchestral academies, which are generally designed for post-graduate studies. Nor does it include Bavaria's vocational music schools, where the third year generally serves as preparation for studying at a tertiary-level music school.
